Definitions

Key Term or Acronym	Definition
Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander Person	Source: s51 (25) of the High Court of Australia (1983): “An Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander person is a person of Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander descent who identifies as an Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander and is accepted as such by the community in which they live.” The use of the abbreviation ‘ATSI’ to describe people is considered offensive and must be avoided.
Aboriginal	Lowercase refers to a First Nations person from any part of the world and does not necessarily refer to an Australian Aboriginal. The College’s preference is that “Aboriginal” should always be capitalised. Generally, not inclusive of Torres Strait Islander people, and therefore, “Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples” should be used when referring collectively. “Aborigine” is offensive and must be avoided. “Aboriginal” must never be abbreviated. “Aboriginal” should be used as an adjective, not as a noun. For example, “Aboriginal students”.
Torres Strait Islander	Refers to a person or a descendant from the Torres Strait Islands to the north of mainland Queensland, Australia. The College’s preference is that “Torres Strait Islander” should always be capitalised. Generally, not inclusive of Aboriginal people, and therefore, “Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples” should be used when referring collectively. “Torres Strait Islander” must never be abbreviated. “Torres Strait Islander” should be used as an adjective, not as a noun. For example, “Torres Strait Islander students”.

First peoples	A collective name for the original people of Australia and their descendants. This is an acceptable term.
Indigenous	While this term is in common use, it was developed without consultation, and some Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people believe the term diminishes their identity and homogenises an array of cultures. In some instances, it may be unavoidable to use the term (e.g. responding to government organisations), and in this case, it should be capitalised as “Indigenous Australians”. The College’s preference is for the use of “First peoples” or “Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander”.
Self-identifying terms	Aboriginal people may choose to identify themselves using terms drawn from their languages and specific areas (e.g. Murri, Koori, Noongah, Palawa, Kulkalgal). It is usually not appropriate for non-Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people to use these terms, and best practice is to ask for individual preference about what the person wants to be called.
Elder	The traditional meaning of an Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Elder is someone who has gained recognition within their community as a custodian of knowledge and lore, and who has permission to disclose cultural knowledge and beliefs. Recognised Elders are highly respected people within Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander communities.
Mob	A term identifying a group of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people associated with a particular place or country. This is a culturally significant term associated with identity, and it is not appropriate for non-Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people to use this term.
Nation	A culturally distinct group of people associated with a particular culturally defined area of land or country. Each nation has boundaries that cannot be changed, and language is tied to that nation.
Traditional Owner(s)	An Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander person or group of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people directly descended from the original Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander inhabitants of a culturally-defined area of land or country, and has a cultural association with this country that derives from their bloodline back to Country, traditions, observances, customs, beliefs or history of the original Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander inhabitants of the area.
